FEDERAL COURT DECISION SEQUEL

Three applications in the nature of "habeas corpus" were filed on Monday, before Mr. Justice M. C. Chagla, Vacation Judge of the Bombay High Court, at his residence.

This is a sequel to the decision given by the Federal Court on April 22, that the Defence of India Rule 26, is invalid.

The applications were filed on behalf of Prof. J. C. Jain of the Ruia College, Mr. P. K. Bhapkar, a pleader of Ahmednagar and Mr. K. K. Shah, an advocate of the Bombay High Court.

The applicants prayed that His Lordship be pleased to issue directions in the nature of "habeas corpus" and that they be produced before the Court for such purpose as the Court might deem fit and proper and that they be ordered to be set at liberty.

His Lordship issued a rule to show cause why the applicants should not be produced before the Court, one rule to be argued on April 30.

Mr. R. A. Jahagirdar with Mr. K. S. Daundkar and Mr. A. G. Mody appeared for the applicants.

New Police Department For Bombay

It is reliably understood that a special police department for the Bombay Province with its headquarters in the city is to be opened shortly.

The business of this new department, it is said, will be to investigate and detect cases of corruption in the Railway and other departments of the Government of India. Similar departments have already been opened in other major provinces, and they are all under the control of the Deputy Inspector-General of Police, Lahore.

It is gathered that Mr. M. Y. Karnik, who was officiating in charge of the "F" division of the Bombay City Police, will take charge of the new department. Two inspectors, officers and constables will work under him.

JAP TROOPS AT PINBON BOMBED

NEW DELHI, April 26.

No important change has taken place in Arakan, but since yesterday, April 25 the enemy have been attacking one of our positions between the Mayu Hills and the Mayu River south of Buthidaung, says an India Command Joint War communique.

Fighting in this sector continues. Elsewhere in the battle area low flying hurricanes destroyed three motor trucks, killed some Japanese troops, wrecked a small bridge and set some huts on fire.

In the Upper Chindwin a formation of 'Blenheims' bombed enemy troops near Pinbon. Last night, bombs were dropped on the Rangoon marshalling yards.

From these operations all our aircraft returned safely—A. P.

PHILLIPS KEENLY DISAPPOINTED

May Not Return To India?

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT)
NEW DELHI, April 26.

REPORTS CURRENT HERE SHOW THAT MR. WILLIAM PHILLIPS, PERSONAL ENVOY OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, IN INDIA, MADE A PERSONAL REQUEST TO THE VICEROY, FOR FACILITIES TO SEE MAHATMA GANDHI, DURING HIS RECENT VISIT TO DEHRA DUN. BUT IT IS UNDERSTOOD THAT THE AUTHORITIES TOOK THE SAME STAND WHICH THEY HAD TAKEN IN THE CASE OF THE METROPOLITAN OF INDIA, NAMELY, THAT NO EXEMPTION CAN BE MADE TO THE RULE FORBIDDING POLITICAL INTERVIEWS.

NOT EVEN A SECRET MEETING

Mr. Phillips is even reported to have suggested that if he were allowed to visit Gandhiji, they might agree to keep the fact of the meeting secret, but even this request was refused. There appears no doubt that Mr. Phillips is keenly disappointed.

PHILLIPS TO DO THE JOHNSON WAY?

There appears some ground for apprehension that that Phillips may not return to India. One question asked in political circles is—if even Phillips is refused interview what chance is there of any leteter from Gandhiji to Mr. Jinnah or any other political leader being permitted.

The announcement warned that if necessary, other steps would be taken to discourage price advances in cotton and final resort would be establishment of price ceilings.—Reuter.

"Muslim India Will Resist Federal Constitution"

LEAGUE VESTS JINNAH WITH FULL POWERS

NEW DELHI, April 26.

At the last sitting of the All-India Muslim League tonight Mr. Jinnah in the chair, Mian Bashir Ahmad proposed, and Khan Bahadur Jamal seconded, and Maulana Jamal Miya supported the resolution empowering the President, Mr. Jinnah till the next session of the League to take every step or action as he may consider necessary in furtherance of and relating to the objects of the Muslim League as he deems proper, provided they are consistent with the principles, policy and goal of the League or any resolutions expressly passed by the session of the All-India Muslim League. The resolution was unanimously carried.

PIR PAGARO'S EXECUTION DEPLORED

Maulana Abdul Hamid Badauni, moved his resolution about the execution of Pir Pagaro. Nawabzada Liaqat Ali seconded and the Sessions adopted it unanimously. The resolution stated: "This Session of the All-India Muslim League deplores the unjustifiable action of the Government inasmuch as retrospective effect was given to the Martial Law and the trial of Martial Law Court of Pir Pagaro and that he was tried by the Martial Law Court instead of Normal Judicial Tribunal of the land for offences alleged to have been committed before the introduction of Martial Law in the areas of Sind concerned and that the sentence of death passed against him by such a court was executed."

The Nawabzada in a brief speech said that incident depicted Act of Injustice.

VEST PROPERTY IN COMMITTEE

A second resolution concerning Martial Law in Sind was moved by Mustafa Shah Gilani urging on the authorities to entrust the properties and treasures of Pir Pagaro to a committee to be appointed by the Sind Government.

The speaker alluded to the difference in treatment meted out to the Hurs and the Congress, "both of whom were in the eyes of the Government rebels," and asked why it was so. The resolution was supported by Nawab Siddiq Ali Khan, M.L.A., (Central) and was unanimously passed.

The third resolution on Sind was moved by Mr. G. M. Syed, who, traced the unrest in Sind to the Allah Bux ministry. He said the law-abiding section of the population were suffering great hardships on account of the continuance of the Martial Law. He demanded its immediate withdrawal and hoped that the Government of India would accede to this demand.

Sh. Abdul Majid Sindhi said the present Martial Law, unlike past practice, was not preceded with a proclamation by the Governor-General. He said it was still not known under what authority or provision of the Government of India Act the Martial Law was enforced. No satisfactory explanation had been forthcoming from the Government.

The resolution was carried.—A.P.

The Honorary Secretary Nawabzada Liaqat Ali Khan through a resolution constituted a committee of women for the purpose of propagating the League's programme amongst Muslim women.

The Nawabzada also announced certain amendments to the Constitution of the League. The Sessions approved the amendments.

Chaudhary Khaliquzaman moved the main resolution of the Session. It related to the declaration by the British Government of Self-determination for the Mussalmans.

Chaudhary Khaliquzaman traced the history of the constitutional deadlock since the beginning of the war 'vis-a-vis' the Congress attitude towards the Mussalmans. The Congress, he said, focussed its attention on the future and demanded declaration of war aims and peace aims. The League, on the other hand, declared that it was prepared to share in the mobilisation of the war effort on the basis of equality. Then came the August Declaration of 1940, which made it clear, that no constitution would be acceptable to the British Government unless it had the approval of the Mussalmans. That put up back of the Congress which started: "Individual Civil Disobedience".

NO FEDERATION OR CONFEDERATION

The Cripps' scheme conceded Self-Determination or Provincial basis, which led to "Quit India Movement." The suppression of the Congress, has changed the attitude of the British and their spokesmen have started the slogans of "India geographically one". The Hindus would prefer to rot in jail rather than settle with the Mussalmans. The Mussalmans meanwhile were becoming stronger. Their Ministers had been set up in four provinces and would soon be established in the fifth.

He made it clear that the Mussalmans would never accept Federation or Confederation or any improved constitution. The Mussalmans could not be fooled and did not believe in non-violence. He challenged the British that they would never be able to impose any Federal or Confederal constitution on the Mussalmans, nor the Mussalmans would ever go again before the British with a beggars' bowl for concession. They would have free Governments in their majority provinces and would see how the British imposed their will on them. The Mussalman minorities in the Congress Provinces made it impossible for the Congress to govern them without going to jail. They, the Mussalmans knew the art and could defeat with success any attempt of the British to impose any unwanted constitution on them.

Mr. Gazdar, seconding the resolution, characterised it as revolutionary. It was clear that no nation got freedom by mere asking for it. He exhorted the Muslims to get ready to make sacrifices, for it was only by sacrifices that they would achieve their goal. The Muslims were not going to beg for their freedom.—A.P

MORE FUNDS FOR LEAGUE

In addition to the donations already reported, cash presents amounting to a further sum of Rs. 33,000 were made to Mr. Jinnah for the League Fund. The session adjourned at 1-40 a.m.

Muslim India Will Resist Federal Constitution

NEW DELHI, April 26.

The Subjects Committee of the All India Moslem League to-day adopted the main resolution of the session to be placed before the opening sitting to night.

The resolution expresses concern at the failure of the British Government to make the declaration asked for in the Bombay resolution of August guaranteeing the right of self-determination to Muslims and pledging the carrying out of the Muslim verdict with regard to the Pakistan Scheme in consonance with the basic principles laid down in the Lahore resolution. The resolution proceeds to state that speeches and statements made by responsible British Statesmen in England and India lead to the conviction that not only will such a declaration not be forthcoming but some kind of a federal constitution not necessarily on the model of the 1935 act is under contemplation. The resolution therefore warns British Government that such a federal constitution will be resisted by Moslem India with all its might which would inevitably result in strife, Bloodshed and misery, the responsibility for which will rest on the British Government alone. The resolution expresses the conviction that the attainment of Pakistan is only possible by untiring effort, willing sacrifice and grim determination of Mussalmans and therefore calls upon them to do their utmost to acquire the requisite strength for such an undertaking.

The invitation to hold the next annual session of the league in Karachi has been accepted.—A. P.

Remodel Caste System On Rational Basis

BOMBAY, April 26

Mr. Pandrangi Kesava Rao, Editor, "The Andhra," Bezwada, and President, Andhra Provincial Hindu Mahasabha, addressed the Bombay Andhra Mahasabha at a Teatalk on Sunday evening at Mahasabha premises. The Mahasabha gave also a reception to him on the previous day at the same premises, Mr. B. Hanumanta Rau presided on both the occasions. Mr. C. Nageswara Rao introduced the guest to the audience.

In the course of his address Mr. Kesava Rao referred to the past history and the present difficulties of the problem of unifying the three great Andhra areas of Coastal Districts the Telengana of Hyderabad and Rayalaseema, and said "if Andhras are really as great in political intelligence as we were once reputed to be our leadership would get for us all that we deserve sooner or later. There is no use finding fault with our neighbours. Without our goodwill no great Indian problem can be solved and if we realise this, we will have got everything we need for the mere asking of it.

Referring to modern Hindu idealism and the caste system, he said "one great problem the Andhras should face now boldly and should handle it as experts to give a lead to All-India in our remodelling the great Hinduism to suit modern times. While Muslims are one people with one aim, we are many people with as many as 50 castes dividing us and with many aims too. So long as the caste system is not remodelled on very rational and scientific lines no Andhra Province, no self-government for India is worth achieving.

Mr. Kesava Rao left Bombay to-day for Bellary on his way back to Bezwada. During his stay here, he had interviewed a number of prominent leaders including Mr. V. D. Savarkar and Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Munshi.

NAZI INFANTRY ATTACK REPELLED

Block-Houses And Dugouts Destroyed

MOSCOW: Monday's Soviet communique states: "During the night of April 25 no material changes took place at the front."

The supplement to Monday's Soviet communique says on the central front one Russian unit broke into enemy trenches and in hand-to-hand fighting wiped out 70 German officers and men. South of Bolshaya (below Kharkov) men of another unit repelled an attack by German infantry. In the area of Bielgorod artillery men of one unit firing from open positions destroyed six German block-houses and dugouts, blew up enemy ammunition dump and silenced one mortar and three artillery batteries. On the north-western front a group of our scouts penetrated at night into enemy's rear.

285 ENEMY PLANES DESTROYED

LONDON: Moscow radio says that the Germans have lost 285 planes since the beginning of the month as the result of attempted raids on Rostov, Krasnodar and Kursk alone.

LET INDIANS TRUST & WAIT TILL WAR'S OVER!

Beverley's Slogan Of 'Time, Trust And Luck'

BOMBAY, Monday.

Speaking at the Journalists' Association of India this evening, Mr. Beverley Nichols, noted author and journalist, said that of late a revolution had taken place in the minds of the common people of England. There was a tremendous swing to the left. Parliament, he said, was not truly representative, as the last elections had taken place seven years ago. Elections were not possible in war time, and the future would make this factor clear to everyone.

Mr. B. G. Horniman, who presided in introducing Mr. Nichols, said that there was no need to introduce him, as he was too well known. He had very nearly reached the age of "posthumous push."

Mr. Nichols said that Ireland was a million of Pakistan. Mr. de Valera was a great man and one of the mistakes he had made was that of making Gaelic a compulsory second language. He hoped India would not repeat such a blunder by trying to foist some Indian language as a compulsory second language.

This engendered a volley of questions and protests, and at Mr. Horniman's request the discussion was adjourned and Mr. Nichols continued:

He was surprised at the amount of freedom that newspapers enjoyed in India. If any paper in England wrote in the same way the author would be sent for penal servitude.

Touching on the question of pacifism, Mr. Nichols said that India at present was the only country where pacifism received a volume of intelligent support. 98 per cent of war resisters in other countries had recanted. But, in modern warfare, he considered that such an attitude, was not progressive but reactionary.

IMPERIALISM DEAD AS DODO?

As regards Imperialism, Mr. Nichols thought it was dead and gone for ever. The needs of the present moment were "time, trust and luck." The war might last for a few years and the Indians should trust and wait till it was over. They would be free, for the common people of England wanted no Empire, and desired that India should be free.

He regretted that the common men and women of England were not sufficiently informed about India." "Not one in 50 knows how much full the Indian prisons are", he said.

The British Press and the Government were responsible for this ignorance, he admitted, when questioned by a journalist. But still the whole spotlight of publicity of America and the world was directed on the Indian problem. There were tremendous revolutionary under-currents, and these were encouraging factors.

In reply to a question, Mr Nichols said that he was in favour of the unqualified independence of India, but it had to be after the war, and not immediately.

Mr. Horniman in his concluding remarks raised two points: Firstly, why the Britishers who asked India to trust them, were not prepared to trust the Indians, and, secondly, that whether there was a revolution or no revolution in the minds of the common men, the Tories always got into power.

This game of pleading "trust us", he concluded, was played out, and India was wise in not trusting the British.

Mr. J. M. Ghate, Secretary of the Journalists' Association, proposed the vote of thanks.

STEADY PROGRESS MAINTAINED DESPITE STRONG RESISTANCE

LONDON, April 26.

Allied Headquarters, North Africa:—Monday's 'communique' says that Allied troops continued to advance in all sectors on the Tunisian Front. The French captured important heights in the Medjezelbab sector.

The text of the Allied Headquarters North Africa communique says: "Fighting continued on Sunday over the whole Tunisian front. The enemy is strongly contesting every inch of ground on all sectors. Our troops continued their steady progress.

FRENCH FORCES ADVANCE

Algiers radio on Monday morning said that the British troops driving for Pont du Fahs in their thrust on Tunis have taken two villages north-east of Bou Arada, and about seven miles east of Goubellat. The French forces having captured Djebel Mansour are continuing their advance towards Pont du Fahs and are threatening Arnim's tanks fighting the British on the left flank.

HILLS OCCUPIED

The Algiers radio says that the Afrika Korps on Sunday threw its main tank reserves into the Goubellat battle. In the last 72 hours 64 German tanks have been knocked out. Gen Anderson's army has occupied some hills of great strategic importance on the approaches to Tebourba.

LONDON: Algiers broadcast to France said: "Allies are advancing on the whole length of the Central and Northern sectors of the Tunisian front. On the extreme northern sector French forces have reached a point nearly 10 miles east of Cap Serrat." Cap Serrat is only 40 miles in a direct line from Bizerta which puts the French little more than 20 miles from von Arnim's "Dunkirk" base.

Br. Thrust Developing

LONDON: Allied Headquarters in North Africa: Allied armies are continuing to attack the shrinking German defence line all along the ramparts of Tunisian mountains from Enfidaville to the sea, writes Reuter's Special Correspondent. Steady progress has been maintained in all sectors and in the vital Central front, where the Allied armour is at grips with German tanks, the British thrust is developing in strength and mobility.

The Americans, who are battling with skill and intensity in the extreme north of the front, yesterday advanced another three miles establishing their line several miles east of Sidi Nsir in their southern sector. Further north, still other American troops of the Second Armoured Corps captured a strategically important high ground nine miles north-east of Sejenane in the neighbourhood of Jebel el Maza, which is in turn a few miles from Jebel Snehouna.

HEAVY FIGHTING ROUND TERGOUNA HEIGHT

There is some more concrete news of the Eighth Army. The strongly fortified and strongly defended height of Tergouna, about three miles northwest of Enfidaville, has been taken and very heavy fighting has raged round it since its final capture on Saturday night. Fifty prisoners were brought in. Further to the west units of the Eighth Army have slightly progressed in the face of determined German counter-attacks. In general, however the position is fairly stable with the Axis still not broken in their main defences.

LIKELY AXIS TACTICS

An all-out final stand at Biserta as the most likely Axis tactics, moves in Tunisia after the present engagements is suggested by the "Yorkshire Post" and Liddell Hart in the "Daily Mail" on Monday.

Liddell Hart says, "Unless the great comes soon the Allies' advance is likely to be throttled down in close warfare a pace forshadowed in Gen. Eisenhower's terms 'slow, laborious and costly.'

LONDON: Rome radio reports that the Italian hospital ships "Gradisca" and "Argentina" arrived at Bari on Sunday with 185 prisoners of war, including the wounded evacuated from Smyrna.

NAPLES ATTACKED

CAIRO: Monday's Middle East Air Communique states: "During the night of April 24/25th heavy bombers of the R.A.F. attacked Naples, bombs bursting near the railway station, steel works and shipyards. In the Ionian Sea on April 24th long-range fighters set an enemy schooner on fire. From these and other operations all our aircraft returned."

BERLIN: Monday's communique says that the defensive battle on the west Tunisian front continues with unabated violence.

BREACHES DRIVEN INTO AXIS POSITIONS

Morocco radio quoting military sources says that the Allies have driven several breaches into the Axis positions. But the official communique does not give the exact colour to the situation on the Tunisian front. The Allies have driven several breaches into the Axis positions all along the front. These breaches will have immediate repercussions on the whole battle. The Eighth Army are pushing on from Enfidaville, and it is reported that they have driven a wedge into the first Axis line of defence. Every inch of ground is being closely contested. Military observers say that infantry will play a decisive part in the final battle."

ADVANCE OF 12-1/2 MILES IN 36 HOURS

Allied Headquarters, North Africa:—At the end of the day, our units entered Pont-du-fahs plain and have advanced upto three and half miles from Pont-du-fahs. They have thus made an advance of twelve and a half miles into German positions in 36 hours of fighting.—Reuter.

WHAT JUSTICE DEMANDS

The official statement issued from the India Office, London on the Federal Court's decision invalidating Rule 26 of the Defence of India Rules says "that the issue of an ordinance to remove the technical defect is under urgent consideration and no practical question arises of the release of the detenus" and Associated Press message from Delhi announces that an Ordinance is being promulgated taking the necessary powers and validating the action already taken under Rule 26. As the statement points out the reference by the court itself to inconvenience and possible embarrassment, even though temporary, which might be caused to Government suggested immediate amendment. The court's suggestion to Government was superfluous and misleading. We cannot believe the court regarded the defects in Rule 26 as merely technical. Yet that seems to be the interpretation put by Government on the court's remarks. An amending law with retrospective effect is understandable if that effect means only indemnifying the officials concerned from the consequences of wrongful but "bona fide" detention. But to justify retrospectively proved injustice to thousands of persons would be monkeying with justice and gross abuse of power.

We must also protest strongly against the light-hearted remark in the India Office statement that the defects in Rule 26 are only technical. They could be called technical if the Rule itself were fair and equitable and became invalid on account of some verbal or other minor errors. But the Federal Court's decision states that Rule 26 goes far beyond the rule-making powers conferred on Government by the Defence of India Act. For instance, the Act deliberately gives Government the limited power to detain only those persons who are "reasonably suspected of being of hostile origin or of having acted, acting or being about to act, in a manner prejudicial to the public safety or interest or to the defence of British India." But Rule 26 enables the Central Government to detain a person about whom they need have no suspicions, reasonable, or unreasonable, that he is about to act in any prejudicial manner at all. Under the Rule, says the Court, "the Government has only to be satisfied that with a view to preventing him from acting in a particular way it is necessary to detain him." Surely this transgression beyond the limits laid down in the Act cannot be called a technical defect!

As regards the proposed changes in the law of detention, the right way is to bring Rule 26 in a line with the Act so as to permit the detention of only those who are reasonably suspected of having acted or being about to act prejudicially. The new rule should also, as suggested by the Court, be brought more in consonance with usage in Britain by vesting the power of detention on suspicion in the highest executive officials. The fear is entertained, however, that instead of improving Rule 26 so as to make it accord with the Act Government may keep it as it is and by an ordinance alter the Act itself so as to bring it in a line with the existing Rule 26. That would be a calculated outrage on justice and we must warn Government against the consequences of being guilty of it.

Egregious Blunder

It is shocking to learn that Mr. Phillips has not been allowed by Government to see Gandhiji though, as he himself states publicly, he "requested the appropriate authorities for permission to do so." Mr. Phillips wished to see Gandhiji not out of mere curiosity. As President Roosevelt's Representative he came to India to study conditions here and explore the possibilities of ensuring maximum co-operation from Indians in America's war efforts. He naturally wished to interview Gandhiji as the acknowledged greatest leader of India to ascertain from him on what terms India could give full co-operation and to report his impressions to the President. The interview he sought was, therefore, an urgent war necessity, affecting the United Nations. As pointed out by Mr. C. Rajagopalachari in his letter to Mr. Phillips, "India is far too big a fact to be loosely disposed of as the domestic concern of Britain." By disallowing the interview Government have done a grave disservice to the Allies, particularly to America and India. And we have no doubt Mr. Phillips himself thinks likewise.

It is intriguing why Government were so nervous about complying with the request of the Ambassador of a country whose goodwill Britain values as of no other. They could not be unaware of the unpleasant reaction that must follow their decision throughout the world. Why have they risked it? One plausible explanation is that they have an uneasy conscience about the misrepresentation of the real attitude of Gandhiji and the Congress and they are afraid that, if Mr. Phillips personally interviewed Gandhiji, the whole game would be up. If Government sincerely believed in their own righteousness and in Gandhiji's guilt, why could they not let Mr. Phillips judge for himself? Whatever their motives Government have egregiously blundered in being responsible for what is virtually an affront to the American Representative, in refusing an interview, which might conceivably have led to better co-operation betwen India and the Allies. As it is the only good out of the evil is that Mr. Phillips may convey to America a vivid idea of the blunders of the Government of India in their relations with the Congress.

FRANKLY SPEAKING

Hitler's Plans

Excepting Marshal Petain and Laval, Hitler has, by now, had every collaborator and Quisling at his headquarters for discussion of matters of common interest. What are these matters? There can be no doubt that one of them relates to the coming developments in the war situation in Europe. With the imminent arrival of the campaigning weather in Russia and Europe and with the equally imminent departure of the Axis from Tunisia, there may shortly open a cruicial phase of the war in Europe. Hitler must evidently mobilise his own resources and those of his satellities and prepare military and strategical moves as well as counter-moves. But Mr. William Shirer, the American correspondent and an authority on Nazi Germany, has drawn attention to the possibility of there being a political side also to these discussions. He forecasts a new propaganda offensive in the form of a "European Charter." The Charter will, so it is expected, "ballyhoo the 'revolutionary' and 'socialist' nature of his programme for Europe" and will generally be used "to demolish the Altantic Charter in the minds of the people of Europe". Now, no one in Europe is likely to be duped by "the fake 'European Charter'" of Messrs. Hitler and Goebbels. But the failure of a fake cannot necessarily prove the bona fides of the rival. For that purpose it is necessary to make real the Atlantic Charter of Messrs. Roosevelt and Churchill.

What About China?

Attention is being invited once more to the activities of the Japanese in the South-West Pacific where they are strengthening and reinforcing their bases north and north-west of Australia. They are reported to be preparing aerodromes and bringing troops but without weakening their other fronts. It is also emphasized that these Japanese bases point directly to Darwin and the north-western coast of Australia. Geographically this is true. Militarily, the implied suggestion of the possibility of a large scale invasion of Australia is not correct. General MacArthur's command does certainly need reinforcements mainly in aircraft. But they are needed to extend his own operations against the Japs in New Guinea as also to prevent them from consolidating their defensive bases elsewhere, not to defend the Australian mainland against a rather imaginary danger. But there certainly is a theatre of war against the Japanese where no danger is exaggerated. It is the Chinese theatre, only the Chinese do not shout even half as loudly as they should and as others should not. In China the Japanese invasion on a scale measured in hundreds of thousands of square miles and millions of troops is real; has been so for five years. What have China's Allies done about that? As we write a renewed Japanese offensive is again under way in China. But not much is going to be heard about any assistance to her even though—let it be emphasized again—China's Allies freely acknowledge the Chinese theatre to be most vital in the war against Japan.

Colour Bar In British Navy

LONDON, April 21.

An instance of discrimination here relates to a young Indian doctor from Lahore (an M.D.B.Ch. M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P.) who volunteered for service in the Royal Navy and presented himself for interview and medical examination and subsequently received a letter appointing him as a probationary Surgeon and Lieutenant in the Royal Naval Voluntary Reserve. Three days later he got another letter stating that the appointment was cancelled. Further enquiries elicited the answer that the R.N.V.R. regulations require that candidates must be "of pure European descent." It is expected that more will be heard of this case and that the demand will be raised that the Admiralty regulations in this respect should be brought into line with the Army and R.A.F. where Indians are not only eligible but actually hold a number of commissions.—

WHEN PAKISTAN TOOK SHAPE

KARACHI, April 26.

"Pakistan is merely imagination. So also is Akhand Bharat." We wish to wreck the Pakistan imagination with Akhand Bharat imagination said Lala Khushalchand, of Lahore, presiding over the Akhand Bharat Conference held here.

Lala Kushalchand in the course of his address referred to Mr. Jinnah's latest speech and denied that the Hindus had given the name of Pakistan to the Muslim separatist movement. Pakistan took shape as Pakistan at the Round Table Conference in 1932, he said and since then it has been carried on from the League's headquarters. The Lala said that the Hindus would never allow India to be partitioned. "We will oppose Pakistan until there is blood in the veins of the last of us" he said.

The main resolution passed by the Conference described India as indivisible and insisted that in order to maintain the liberties of all, it was essential that all communities should stand together.—A.P.

BENGAL GOVERNOR MUST RETIRE

Dr. Mukherjee On People's Constitutional Right

CALCUTTA, April 26.

"The present Governor of Bengal has ceased to enjoy the confidence of the people. He is not the type of administrator in whose hands the destinies of the people can rest at a time when the enemy is knocking at the gate. It is the constitutional right of the people of Bengal to demand that he should vacate his office and retire to his own country," says Dr. Shyama Prasad Mookerjee, formerly Finance Minister, Bengal and Working President of the All-India Hindu Mahasabha, in a statement issued today on developments connected with the formation of the Nazimuddin Ministry in Bengal and the resignation of the Fazlul Huq Ministry.

Dr. Mookerjee says that this is the first duty before the people of the province. In the second place, he continues, "we have to make it clear that we have no quarrel with the Muslim League as such. Let Sir Nazimuddin even at this late hour rise equal to the occasion. He commands the support of the majority of the Moslem members of the legislature. He has appealed to the people to forget mere political considerations. I re-echo this appeal and ask him to keep in the background all questions of party jealousies and manoeuvrings. Let all the Indian parties even now combine on the basis of an agreed programme: non-controversial and non-communal in character calculated to advance the welfare of the people as a whole.—A. P.

RATIONING WARD OFFICES BUSY

Question Of Beggar-feeding Will Not Affect Scheme

Work, preparatory to rationing, in the city is proceeding apace. The Central office of Rationing and all the ward offices were working at full swing and Government stocks of foodstuffs under Rationing were being disposed of till 9 p.m. on Monday.

Although godowns, piled up with mountains of foodstuffs, were kept open on Sunday, few authorised distributors came. But on Monday both the godowns and the offices were stormed by crowds. This flow of supplies from the godowns to the various distribution centres will be carried on till May 1—rationing to begin on the next day—when it is expected that all the authorised distributors will be armed with supplies. Every day, godowns will be kept open, it is stated, till 9 p.m.

While rationing plans are well under way, the question of feeding beggars has raised an intricate problem. About thirty thousand beggars in the city were stated to have been given ration cards and these seem to have overcome the shyness which they were stated to have shown at first. The question of feeding a similar number, housed at Chembur, has not so far been settled. It is still not known whether the responsibility of feeding them will devolve on the Bombay Municipality or on the Government.

Anyway, this question of beggars, it is understood, will not be allowed to interfere with the actual introduction of rationing on the scheduled date.

The provisional card-holders also seem to have added to the already heavy work of the rationing offices. About 23,000 provisional ration cards did not find their way to the owners for a considerable period. Nearly 1,500 persons claiming provisional cards came to the Central office at Church Gate on Monday and they had to be taken to the various ward offices where arrangements have been made to issue them.

The work of issuing a supplementary ration of one unit a week to a manual labourer doing heavy manual work has now been under taken.

Beggars And Rationing

While the rationing scheme is actually on the anvil nothing has been mentioned about providing the beggars. How can the beggars have ration? They are neither literate nor wealthy to buy their rations from the Government Grain Shops. When everything was O. K. and supplies were splendid this question did not arise, for they have been somehow or other getting food from rich, middle class and charitable minded people. Now under the present rationing scheme an adult will be getting one paylee of rice or 1/4 paylee wheat and 3/4 paylee rice or bajree (optional) per week. it will not be possible.

Liquor Shops And Bijapur Famine

My appeal to the Government of Bombay to keep closed all the liquor-shops in the rural areas and hand-loom weavers centres of the famine-stricken Bijapur district has found support from the "Samyukta Karnatak", the "Kesari" and the "Bombay Chronicle". On further inquiry I find that I am indirectly forestalled by the Madras Government. There the Madras Famine Code Revision Committee has recommended as follows:—Proposed Section 192 C. "As soon as relief works are started or the test works are converted into relief works all liquor shops situated within ten miles from the work spot shall remain closed during the period of famine."

It is gratifying to note that the Madras Government have accepted this recommendation and it has been brought into practice in the Bellary District where famine works on a large scale are going on. There the shops are closed only after the works are started. My request to the Bombay Government is to close shops in rural areas and hand-loom weaving centres that are situated in areas where famine is declared. Will our Government accept the suggestion?

"If Mr. Jinnah Be Viceroy"

I am surprised to read the short article written by Mr. B. F. Bharucha which appeared in your issue of April 22. I do not know what purpose Mr. Bharucha served by writing such silly stuff, unless it is meant to ridicule the great Muslim leader.

It pains me to know that a co-religionist of the noble Dadabhai and Phirozeshah Mehta should descend so low as to attack a leader without regard to the feeling of those who love him.

WITHOUT COMMENT—

"It would be suicidal madness not only for Britain but for India if the British were to withdraw precipitously.

Our task is not completed—not by a long way."

Answering the only question put to him at his farewell Press conference, U. S. Envoy Phillips said that he did ask for permission to see Gandhiji but it was not granted.

That is all that we wanted to know from Mr. Phillips.

We thank him, wish him "bon voyage" and say amen to his hope about returning to India.

* * *

By the way, Mr Phillips had just returned to Delhi after spending a few days with Lord Linlithgow at Dehra Dun.

Which renders his statement all the more curious. What a singular appreciation of Viceregal hospitality!

* * *

The Muslim League Session has, as the Quid-e-Azam might say, risen to the occasion and carried unanimously a resolution against the South African anti-Indian Bill.

The Junior colleague, however, is unable to congratulate the League. In his opinion in fact, has blundered into a palpable inconsistency. For, what the Smuts' Government is doing is to lay down a statutory acceptance of the essential principle of Pakistan.

* * *

Mr. Jinnah, we read, was presented with an embroidered map of Pakistan which was auctioned for Rs. 3,600.

We are not so much interested in its symbolical fate as in its geographical shape—until Mr. Jinnah disclaims it on the ground that even though he accepted the map he did not authoritatively commit himself to it.

* * *

The Qaid-e-Azam is reported to have described Mr. Fazlul Huq as a "traitor who has now met his Waternoo."

The statement has an epoch-making significance for historians. They learn for the very first time after about a century and a half that Napoleon was a traitor. And they had better accept this description because it is authoritative.

Independence Is Afghans' Birthright

PESHAWAR, April 25.

The Afghans should exert their utmost for their separate national existence and try to establish their own independent state in order to save themselves from the destructive flames of war which have ruined so many nations, declared Mulla Mazar Sharif in his presidential address at the Afghan National Conference.

He said whether the Afghans were Aryans or Semetic the supreme fact was that they were Muslims and as such independence was their birthright.

He expressed gratitude to the Almighty God that the Muslim countries like Turkey and Afghanistan were safe and free from the destructive effects of war because they were united and organised and advised the Afghans to organise themselves.

The conference adopted a resolution appealing to the Afghan nation living between the borders of Russia, China, Iran and India to unite and try for their rights of self-determination under one man following the Quranic law in the strict sense.

By another resolution the conference urged on the Government to introduce Pushtu as the medium of instruction in schools in the interest of the nation's progress.

The conference also decided to request the Government to establish Qazi's courts to try cases of Muslims according to the Shariat Act.—A. P.

New War Uses For Cotton

New war uses for cotton are being searched out at a large U. S. Government laboratory located in the heart of the country's cotton-growing region. Some 150 experts—chemists, chemical engineers, machinists, textile workers—are at work finding cotton substitutes for materials no longer imported because of the war.

Already these scientists have produced a cottonseed oil that pinch-hits for palm oil in tin-plating.

A few of the laboratory's current research problems include creation of a cotton fabric for sand-bagging that will prove as resistant to weather, bomb-concussion, and shrapnel as the burlap formerly imported replacing the sisal binder twine, no longer available from the Near East, for grain-harvesting machines; and production of a cotton tire-cord even more rugged than the rayon now used for this purpose.

Last year U. S. textile mills consumed more than one crore ten lakhs of bales of cotton in the manufacture of camouflage fabrics, tenting, khaki, and webbing, along with other military and civilian needs. This figure will be swelled considerably this year.
